

Bunga Raya

Hibiscus rosa-sinensis

Generated: 02-Dec-2025

Bunga Raya, or the Chinese Hibiscus, is Malaysia's national flower, celebrated for its large, vivid blooms and cultural symbolism. Belonging to the genus Hibiscus, it is a tropical shrub native to East Asia. Its flowers are typically trumpet-shaped, with five or more petals in red, pink, yellow, or white, and are borne singly at the tips of branches. The plant has glossy green leaves and a woody stem structure. Bunga Raya is widely used for ornamental landscaping and cultural ceremonies and thrives in sunny locations with regular watering and fertile, well-drained soil.
